

BID FOR BUILDING GRANTED

Hahn-St. John, General Contractors of Hawthorne, have been awarded the contract by El Camino college for the construction of a new Commerce building at a cost of $388,495. Business Manager Carl Artwedson said the new unit will provide permanent classrooms for the teaching of business subjects and distributive education. Hahn-St. John was low bidder in a field of eight bidders, ranging to a high bid of $418,468.

In other action at the college, Artwedson said, the Board of Trustees has approved preliminary drawings for a new Music Center as prepared by the school architects, Marsh, Smith, and Powell of Los Angeles and authorized the preparation of full-scale, detailed drawings of the project.

The general over-all building program of the college provides for the construction of the Music Center and Campus Hall, to be followed by an Art Center and other needed educational facilities.
